Objective of the program

The modern college student has too much digital tech at their disposal. This can create digital fatigue. Many students even use eBooks for their textbooks, so they are rarely away from a screen. Stepping into the library can allow for a digital detox.

The aim of our event is to make students aware of the enormous study materials available in library which unlike internet sources are authentic, accurate and reliable. These sources not only provide adequate research database but guides the students according to their needs of study.
